INFONOMICS

FACTS MATTER

Access to reliable information is essential in the modern age.

In particular, young people require access to high quality information to make informed decisions in their own lives. The Infonomics Conference promises to deliver valuable insights into how we can improve youth information provision.

Roderic O'Gorman,
Minister for Children, Equality, Disability,
Integration and Youth of Ireland

“As President of ERYICA, I very much believe that the, “Infonomics – Facts Matter Conference” provides us with an opportunity to come together as a community of practice in the world of youth information provision. In addition to learning and sharing on key themes such as youth participation, quality provision and policy issues, we will also have an opportunity to share new and innovative practices and technology which impacts on our work. This conference is an opportunity not to be missed by all who are passionate about empowering young people.”

Dr Patrick Burke,
President of ERYICA and CEO,
Youth Work Ireland

This a fantastic opportunity to come together to explore, discuss and learn about challenges and opportunities for the Youth Information Sector both nationally and internationally

Julie Kelleher
Youth Information Team Leader
in Crosscare Social Care Agencyd

Infonomics is an exciting opportunity to explore the importance of quality youth information at a time when young people are struggling to access reliable sources that are relevant to their lives in an Irish context. It's also a welcome opportunity to showcase the innovation of youth information providers in Ireland.

Ian Power,
CEO spunout
